WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — Substitution of a single powerful government operated corporation for the commodity stabilization agencies provided for in the farm relief bill was proposfarm relief bill was proposed today by Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, as a means of controlling surplus crops. Describing the bill in its present form as a "mockery" and a 'dressed up scheme" to satisfy campaign slogans, he claimed an interest in farm legislation as a representative of a state which produces crops valued at $260,000,000 a year and is the largest consuming and taxpaying commonwealth in the country.

If stabilization is the intention of the administration, he argued, it should be frankly faced with a direct plan of execution and not through a complex machinery and red tape.

He contended the debenture plan was not workable and the Norris amendment providing for reduction of rates whenever over-production is threatened in an af-production is threatened in an ar-fected crop did not improve it. Asserting that many farm lead-ers themselves admit the farmers will not join co-operatives, he de-clared the whole farm relief plan embodied in the pending bill is bound to fail because it intends to set up stabilization corporations upon the co-operative structure.

The written address will lack the personal charm and magnetism with which Miss Berry delivered it, but the privilege of reading it is well worthwhile, and the Council is indebted to her for this contribution to the child welfare program.—P. T. A. Publicity Chairman.

The address follows:

Health Education in the School.

Since the great war there has been a growing interest manifested in health. The clear proof that one-third of all drafted men had to be rejected as too unfit to be worth training, jarred the somewhat complacent attitude the American people had taken toward their physical well-being. Once having their eyes opened, people are beginning to pay more attention to matters of individual and public health, and are realizing that the human body, like a machine, needs frequent inspection and intelligent care. An Extensive Program.

To accomplish these ends requires a three-fold program:

1. To discover and remove physical defects.

sical defects.

2. To teach healthful habits of living and the principles underlying these habits.

3. To conduct physical activities that will keep the bodily organs functioning normally.

With this program in mind, the health courses in our schools are conducted for the following purposes:

poses:
1. To secure knowledge and skill in activities.
2. To secure the best possible physical development.

This is an extensive program and a program that cannot be completed by the schools alone. It is to the parents to whom we look or co-operation and support. This course embraces the work of the course embraces the work of the public health nurse, and Corsicana is indeed fortunate in having the services of an excellent nurse at the disposal of the citizens. In school work, it is the nurse's duty the disposal of the citizens. In school work, it is the nurse's duty to discover the physical defects of a child, and then report them to the parents.

If we fall to gain the co-operation of the parents in removing these physical defects, then our work loses its value. No plan of promoting health, will avail much among those who suffer from discused conditions. When a car develops a leaky radiator, the driver doesn't go on without repairs; he has the defects mended and then goes on at full speed. Bodily defects should be found and cured in the same business-like manner.

Teaching Methods Varled.

The methods of teaching health to children of all ages are varied, because of the physical and mental aspects to be considered. The conduct of young children is affected, not by what they know, but what they see others do. It is evident, then, that leadership and direction are better than teaching facts. Games, stories, rhymes, and demonstration from excellent mediums of introducing these facts to the child in an interesting and Self-Made Man.

When Mr. Tarver was 41-2 years of age, he lost his father. He entered public schools at Wesson, Copiah county, Mississppi, at the age of five, and attended there until eleven, having reached the fifth grade. Then to assist in making a living for the family he went to work in the cotton and woolen mill, located in Wesson, where he worked until 17 years of age. He left Wesson in May, 1900, and came to Corsicana, and went to work in the oil field, and was employed by the old firm of Garitty, Mills and Auphram, composed of the late Capt. James Garitty, Major C. H. Mills, and Mr. Ed Aupharm. In July, 1901, Mr. Tarver bought a steam popcorn machine, and went to Ennis, and ran same several months. In this venture he was very successful, and in three months was able to pay for his machine and save enough money to aid him in getting away to school for one year. Worked Way Through School.

During his stay at Georgetown he aided in making his expenses by working at a private home, such as locking after the horse, yard and flowers, to pay for his board. He graduated from South-western third in a class of 26, in 1906, Following his graduation, he was on the road for about a year in the capacity of traveling salesman, a portion of the time with Waters-Pierce Oil company—was in Illinois, Missouri and Oklahoma. In the summer of 1907, he returned to Corsicana, and entered the law office of Lawrence Tread-well, and in December, 1907, was admitted to the Bar, since which time he has been continuosly engaged in the practice of law in Corsicana.

Startling Parallel Between Times of Old Judah and the Present Day—Frank Words About the Cure for Society's Maladies

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Mysterious crypts and tunnels and claterns form a network under the surface of the temple area in Jerusalem; but the Moslems will not permit, them to be explored. Many imaginations have been fired by the possibility of discovering their priceless treasures—such as the Ark of the Covenant, the secreted jewels and gold of palace and temple, and still more precious records of the days when Israel was a nation. Sometime, and perhaps sooner than we expect, all these subterranean passages in the Dome of the Rock will be explored, and their long-hidden wonders brought to light.

Nothing will be found, however, more imjeritant or sensational than was discovered by Hilkiah, the priest, on this identical spot, amidst the rubbish of Solomon's temple, which had been allowed to fall into disrepair. During the reforms and reconstructions of good King Josiah, Hilkiah discovered a copy of the long-neglected Law of Jehovah; and when this was shown to the king, and read to the people, a great revival swept the capital and the country.

Many students find an analogy between the surface of the work the surface of the two wonders and repart to the king, and read to the people, agreed revival swept the capital and the country.

PENNSYLVANIA IS SEEKING CONTROL OF NEW TRUNK LINE

WILL BE OPPOSED BY B. AND O. AND C. AND O. RAILWAY INTERESTS

NEW YORK, May 1.— (AP) — The New York Times said today that a battle of millions for control of strategic railroads in the east, comparable to that waged between the Pennsylvania and the Gould interests in the early part of the century, had been started between the Pennsylvania railroad on the one side and the Baltimore & Ohio and the Chesapeake & Ohio on the other.

Through the Wabash Railway, which it controls, the Pennsylvania is to apply to the interstate commerce commission for permission to acquire roads sought by the B. & O. and the Van Sweringens and link them into a fifth trunk line between Chicago & Baltimore and

New York.

Revives Loree Plan.

Thus, the Pennsylvania will revive the plan sponsored by Leonor F. Loree and defeated last year by the united action of the Pennsylvania, New York Central, B. & O. and the C. & O.

The Wabash plans to fle with the commission a merger petition which would include the Western Maryland. The B. & O. in a recent merger petition asked for both the Wabash and the Western Maryland. The Pennsylvania obtained control of the Wabash through purchase of the Loree holdings. At the same time the Pennsylvania obtained control of the Lehigh Valley which connets with the Wabash at Buffalo and would form the New York branch of the new system.

new system.

May Force Out N. Y. Central.
Between the Wabash and the Western Maryland lie the Pittsburgh & West Virginia, controlled by Frank E. and Charles F. Taplin, and the Wheeling & Lake Eric controlled by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen. The Times said it was accepted the Taplins would act in concert with the Pennsylvania in the merger move.

concert with the Pennsylvania in the merger move.

Merger with the Wheeling & Lake Erie recently was asked by the C. & O. the Times pointed out that the move of the Pennsylvania is a blow not only to the B. & O. and the C. & O. but to the New York Central and might force the Central, heretofore neutral, to Central, heretofore neutral, to come out openly in support of the merger plans of the B. & O. and the C. & O.

Representative Homer De Wolfe, Goldthwaite, sought to make all state-elected officres members of the board. The move failed and the house turned its attention to an amendment by Representative J. R. Long, Wichita Falls, creating a civil servcie commissioner to be appointed by the governor for a six year term.

a six year term.

AUSTIN, May 1.—(?)—The house resumed consideration of the governor's civil service bill on second reading today. A six votes margin against striking out the enacting clause indicated to many the measure would be defeated.

Representatives W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi and W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales yesterday leveled the severest attack on the bill, written by Rep. George Kemble of Fort Worth. Hopkins wanted to strike out the enacting clause, but his motion lost 56 to 52.

Opponents of the bill said this vote did not indicate the final result, because a number of those against civil service refused to favor killing it this way.

Mrs. Laura Burleson Negley of San Antonio got in an amendment exempting all persons who have worked in a single department for 10 years.

Efforts to adjust differences over concentration and relocation of the penitentiary system, were made by Gov. Moody yesterday. He invited, the sub-committee of the house, working on a compromise measure from the three bills offered there to his office to "talk matters over." Members of the committee who attended the meeting delared no agreement was reached.

WOULD BE DEFEATED

AUSTIN, May 1.—(R)— Around the issues of pensions for state employes and the personnel of the ex-officio board to administer provisions of the act, the house continued to wage its civil service floor fight today.

Representative L. Anderson, San Antonio, outspoken opponent of the plan, was unsuccessful in his attempt to obtain adoption of an amendment providing a pension after 20 years state service but fared better in reducing the examination fee of applicants for state positions from $5 to $3. Representative A. P. Johnson, Carrizo Springs, fought the leading fight against the pension plan, claiming it was a violation of the state's constitution.

What more can be said? We know that a life like this can mean only self sacrifice and loving service with heart and hands. Such a service she performed, not one day, but every day, and not grudgingly, but eagerly, striving to help every one she could, and forgetting herself in the service for others. Her husband, five children and eight grandchildren survive.

We of the "Big Seven" very politely but persistently insisted that we wouldn't be so undignified as to strike; we merely were ceasing to write because we were tried out and needed a rest.

Our show was staged in Flanders, and it was in the spring of 1918, if I remember rightly. As I have indicated, we were seven—five British and two Americans, Among us we served virtually the entire world with the all-important news of the fighting along the British and Belgian fronts.

We were the favored few, strictly limited in number, to whom G. H. Q. laid bare all secrets. I mean H. Q. laid bare all secrets. I mean that literally. We knew more intimate details of what was going on, and what was projected, than did anybody outside the commander in chief and his chosen council at G.

Our task obviously was no light one. Upon us devolved the respon-sibility not only of recording with precision the momentous history which was unfolding with kalcido-scopic rapidity, but of interpreting it accurately to readers throughout

I was a nerve wracking game under best of conditions, and any-thing which added to our difficul-ties became a matter of vital importance to us.
